Taking care of the entire process, we are at your side every step of the way.

- 1 The production and mailing process starts with the transfer of your digital data to Deutsche Post.
- 2 Upon receipt we separate the data and send it to the selected printing location(s) for printing, fulfillment and distribution. Our local production center prints, addresses, envelopes and franks the documents. According to your requirements in terms of quality and process times, we select the most suitable production location(s) to achieve a cost-efficient, flexible and scalable solution that is tailored to your requirements.
- 3 Final delivery is made via the local mail service provider.

An example: Fast invoicing from the U.S. to Europe and to the U.S.
