This service will be provided for parcels to European Union countries. Non-EU shipments will be returned at the expense of the shipper.

A surcharge of EUR 6.50 per item applies for forwarded and returned items. Additionally, the DHL Paket standard rates that are published in the internet are applicable based on the weight and the dimensions captured by Deutsche Post AG. The rate information is available at dhl.de/en/paket/preise/preise-international.html

If at least 4 packets cannot be forwarded as mail product, they are initially stopped. Your local sales support will contact you to coordinate further steps.

Sorting requirements

Items have to be sorted according to format (P, G, E) and service level (Priority, Standard). Additional sorting by country and zone is preferred but not essential.

The format of the address shall be suitable for machine reading. Please use the Automatable Mailing Guide, which is available online at deutschepost.com/en/business-customers/tac.html

Items can be bundled and presented on pallets, bags or in cardboard boxes.

You must complete the Deutsche Post Airwaybill (AWB) in full. An airwaybill must be filled out for each product and service level combination, with the respective authorisation number for the product and service level. Your authorisation number(s) will be provided by the sales support team.

Please ensure that the dispatch documents for each shipment are affixed in a clearly visible manner, as described on page 20.

We are unable to process any shipments that are submitted without the accompanying dispatch documents.

For more information on shapes, dimensions and weights, please refer to the Automatable Mailing Guide, which is available at deutschepost.com/en/business-customers/tac.html

Address and postage

The following must always be present on any mail item that is to be sent abroad:

- Address
- Postage paid impression (PPI) with a specific
- PO box (Postfach) indication and a German return address (PO box in the postage print impression).
- If undeliverables should be returned to you a dedicated PO box must be indicated in the PPI
- You will receive this specific PO box from your local sales support team

The areas in which you should add this information in order for your international mail to reach its destination quickly are displayed in the picture below. It is always advisable to have a sample of your mail layout checked by your local sales support team before posting.

Address format

The postal operator in each country has defined its respective valid address format. If the street name, postcode, place name and country are shown in the wrong order, this may lead to a delay in the delivery of your mail and cause additional cost.

For more information on the correct format for addresses, please refer to the Universal Postal Union website upu.int/ or upu.int/uploads/tx_sbdownloader/descriptionPostcodesAddressingAddressElementsEn.pdf

Label generation

The label can be created via the Deutsche Post customer portal / API.

For the following products, the label must be created via the Deutsche Post / API customer portal: Deutsche Post Packet Tracked, Deutsche Post Packet Plus, Deutsche Post Packet Priority, Deutsche Post Packet Standard. For Deutsche Post Business Mail Registered you can exceptionally use a barcode enrollment sticker, which can be ordered from the local Sales Support Team.

In any case, the barcode and registered service (tracking) number on the items must be readable, scannable, compliant with the Deutsche Post label specifications and unique (not used before). Please note that items with an incorrect, unreadable and/or unscannable sticker or barcode must be corrected by Deutsche Post and a surcharge of EUR 2.50 per item will be invoiced for this service.

Franking and postage print impressions

Deutsche Post offers franking as a standard service for items that do not have to be returned to a customer-specific PO box. This service does not apply to items containing goods. The PPI prepared by the customer must meet the PPI specifications and be confirmed by a Deutsche Post representative before posting.

Please note that Deutsche Post must relabel items with incorrect PPI. This process is automatic for small quantities. For this service the customer will be charged with EUR 2.50 per item.

If at least 20 items in one shipment are not franked correctly, the complete shipment will be stopped. Your local sales support will contact you to coordinate further steps.

There are several options to prepare the franking of your shipments. The minimum size of the postage print impression is 45 mm x 23 mm (width x height). The maximum size is 74 mm x 40 mm. The image below shows the available layout of the postage print impressions (PPI).

Please note that undeliverable shipments will be returned to the International Mail Centre in Germany and a dedicated PO box (Postfach) must be indicated in the PPI to identify your return address.

Electronic Pre Advice Data

For items containing goods electronic pre advice data must be provided by the shipper. For the transmission of electronic data and label preparation we offer different solutions. Labels can be prepared via:

- Manual upload or capture in the Customer Portal
- Electronic data upload via API
- By usage of shipping platforms that support the Deutsche Post International products

Please note that in order to provide contact details (phone number and e-mail address of the recipient) – unless they are required for local delivery – a declaration of consent from the recipient must be provided by the shipper.

5 Customs regulations – what you need to know

The following notes are designed to help you to follow all the relevant regulations when exporting dutiable goods abroad. Deutsche Post will handle customs formalities as defined in the Universal Postal Convention. Dutiable items can be sent to most countries in the world using Packet, PACKET PLUS and PACKET TRACKED service. Customs regulations must be followed when goods and other articles are sent in items to recipients:

- In non-EU countries and territories not in the EU customs territory, and
- In third territories as defined under VAT law

Customs declaration

- All items containing goods must have a customs declaration on the address side, even if the goods are being sent free of charge (e.g. in advertising mailshots or magazines with samples or specimens)
- If you enclose a CN 23 customs declaration inside the shipment, please also mark the shipment by affixing the CN 22 to the outside on the address side
- If the value of the content is up to SDR* 300.00 (EUR 368.00), affix a CN 22 customs declaration to your shipment. If the value is over SDR 300.00, a CN 23 customs declaration must be used
- Customs declaration must always be completed in full
- For sales – including auction transactions via eBay, for example – the “Other” box must always be selected
- The actual value must always be provided. A value of “0” is not permitted
- The country of origin must be stated in all cases
- It is not allowed to use collective names for the description of the goods

Sender's customs reference and Importer's reference for tax or VAT code

The sender's customs reference and the importer's reference can be used to indicate the customs, tax or VAT ID of the sender and the importer. These are not mandatory fields. Depending on the destination country these information can be required or not.

Requirements regarding electronic pre-advice customs data

- When shipping to non-EU countries, the delivery of electronic pre-advice customs data is required
- Packets without this electronic information will eventually be refused by some destination countries in the future; or penalties or additional charges might apply
- Please contact your local sales representative for further information

Further important information

- The customer is obliged to inform himself comprehensively about all existing customs regulations and comply with them
- The sender is liable for the consequences of shipping goods abroad without the proper authorisation and non-compliance with the import and customs rules of foreign countries. This also applies if the CN 22 or CN 23 customs declaration is not filled in correctly or in full, and if the applicable export regulations are not observed. It is the sender's responsibility to obtain the correct information from the recipients of the shipments, the foreign missions of the destination / transit countries, foreign trade offices, chambers of industry and commerce and other relevant bodies
- The CN 22 and CN 23 customs declarations are available to download at deutschepost.com/en/business-customers/downloads.html
- Privately printed forms are accepted, provided they are identical to the preprinted Deutsche Post forms
- A commercial invoice or a pro-forma invoice stating the words “value for customs purposes only” and showing the value of the goods must be included with shipments containing commercial items. For commercial items, it is not enough simply to state the value in the CN 22 or CN 23 customs declaration.

* The special drawing right (SDR) is a unit of calculation and a means of payment for transactions with the International Monetary Fund. An average value is calculated on 1st January every year and used as the basis for charges, value information and liability amounts. The current value of one SDR is EUR 1.22.

7 Aviation safety regulations

EU Regulations* (No 272/2009 and No 300/2008) provide for the detection of explosives in all items carried by air across the EU. They also apply to mail items (letters, parcels).

Apart from explosive, flammable or other dangerous substances, more common objects can also fail the screening process. The non-exhaustive list below contains some examples of contents that are not suitable for airmail:

- Petrol and gas lighters
- Cans of paint and varnish with dangerous content
- Aerosols (spray cans)
- Sparklers
- Wet-cell batteries
- Lithium batteries designed to operate electronic devices

Please follow the aviation safety rules

According to EU Regulations (EC) numbers 300/2008 and 272/2009 of the European Parliament and of the Council, as of 1st May 2010, all European postal companies are obliged to inspect the contents of all airmail items for the security of civil aviation in order to ensure the detection of explosives in all items transported by air. As part of this obligation according to EU regulations, Deutsche Post will x-ray all items transported by air, in a similar way to hand luggage at the airport. Only items classified as safe will then be transported.

Please also observe the current exclusions from conveyance stipulated by the Universal Postal Convention and the IATA Dangerous Goods Regulations.

Further information regarding materials and goods that are not permitted can be found on the internet at deutschepost.de/brief-international/luftverkehrssicherheit

Pick-up organised through Deutsche Post

Pick-up covers the collection of the agreed quantities of mail items and the transporting and delivering of the items to the agreed entry point.

You can contact us by phone or email to submit your pick-up request. We will need you to provide the following details:

- The address from which the goods need to be collected
- The number of pallets to be collected
- The time at which the goods must be collected
- The total weight

If pickup is operated by Deutsche Post or organized on any other way through other transport providers or within the general network of DPAG, it is mandatory that the planned time of arrival at IPZ is communicated before first posting. The general form of transport, planned for shipping to IPZ must also be communicated and agreed with your sales support team.

In case of sending more than two pallets on one inbound, it is needed to arrange an agreed timeslot for this delivery into IPZ. This needs to be done through the local sales support team.

Note on transport to other Deutsche Post International receiving centers or hubs

Please note that these terms are only valid for posting into IPZ Frankfurt. Should your goods be received at other Deutsche Post locations please ask your Deutsche Post International contact person for the detailed guide.

Maximum size of transport units

The transport and the consignment must comply with the load and transport security requirements. Non-compliant consignment will not be accepted. Cost for the return will be charged to the sender.

Receptacles can be bags, boxes, pallets or pallet boxes. The maximum weight of a bag or a box must not exceed 25 kg. Units with higher weight shall be handed over to Deutsche Post on pallets or other industrial loading aids, which can be handled by lifting equipment, e.g. pallet trucks or forklift trucks. These units must not exceed the height of 1600 mm due to work safety.

Please note that the transport and the consignment must comply with the load and transport security requirements. Non-compliant consignment will not be accepted. Cost for the return will be charged to the sender.

Dates for pick-up or line-haul transport shall be agreed separately. However, please contact us as soon as possible, at least three working days prior to handover of the items. If the estimated and actual volumes differ by more than 10%, you must notify Deutsche Post of this at least 24 hours in advance. You must ensure that the items to be collected are placed at the agreed pick-up point at the agreed times.

A freight order cannot usually be cancelled without incurring a cost if the cancellation is declared less than two working days before the scheduled handover of the items. As such, we explicitly reserve our claims for reimbursement of expenses for pick-up or line-haul, which were specially organised for you.

You must complete one airwaybill per authorisation number and indicate the number of containers and the total weight of the shipment, tick the relevant service level and any additional service required and sign the airwaybill. In the case of different service levels – Priority and Standard – you must group the items by service level and mark them accordingly in different pieces. Even with larger shipment quantities, you may dispatch several packages with a single waybill. The copies of the airwaybill are used for this purpose and numbered sequentially (e.g. 1 of 2, 2 of 2). All shipments must have a copy of the airwaybill visible.

According to international postal regulations, each shipment must carry a unique German return address. Deutsche Post International provides all customers who send Deutsche Post Business Mail or Deutsche Post Packet products a customer-specific German PO box free of charge. A different return address (e.g., in the destination country) than this customer-specific mailbox is prohibited.

In addition, the General Terms and Conditions Deutsche Post AG International Business, Dialog Marketing, Packet apply.

13 Book shipments – economical alternative for dispatching books

If you send books we offer an efficient solution with PACKET PRIORITY that allows book shipments up to 5kg. The requirements for book shipments are:

Content

Printed books, brochures, sheet music and maps can be sent as book items. Addressed written communications (letters) are not permitted. In addition, you may enclose invoices/delivery notes, pre-printed payment forms, reply envelopes/return labels as well as lending cards or book inventory cards. Book items may not serve commercial purposes.

Form

- Books and brochures must be bound or have a cover
- The pages must be tightly held together on the side. Supplementary deliveries for loose-leaf works, whose primary work could itself be sent as a book shipment, do not have to be bound
- Books and brochures with removable CDs attached inside. (CDs are subject to the same content restrictions that apply to books and brochures, i.e. they may not serve commercial purposes or contain prohibited advertising, etc.)
- Items can be prepared using, for example, photocopiers, laser printers, computer printers
- Factual information can be inserted loose or attached to items or their packaging. Such information/supplements can be, for example:
 - The invoice or delivery note for the contents of the item.
 - A payment form, also pre-printed, with the invoice amount.
 - A return reply envelope or return label.
 - A lending slip.

- Printed documents, for example, brochures, cards with general and interchangeable texts (e.g., 'with best wishes for a good year') or general printed texts. These printed documents may not, however, be the main dispatch item.
- Brief information describing the content, for example: internal label, location and date of dispatch as well as sender details and signature.
- Books may contain advertising and a dedication, if the following criteria are met:
 - The advertising in or on the main dispatch item must be limited to the outer and inner sides of the envelope and to a maximum of four consecutive pages at the beginning and end of the item.
 - The dedication may consist of a short phrase, such as 'in loving memory, the author', to which brief quotes may also be added. This dedication can also be on a loosely attached sheet or card.
 - Catalogues, flyers and other advertising may be included with the main dispatch item.

Addressed written communications (letters) are still not permitted, e.g.:

- Individual letter texts of all kinds, whether handwritten or printed.
- Texts with salutation (e.g., 'Dear customer').
- Texts with a politeness formula (e.g., 'Yours sincerely').
- Personal messages (e.g., 'rest to follow').

Posting

Book shipments must be posted in an unsealed package and bear the inscription "Büchersendung" (book shipment) above the address. The inner packaging may be sealed if it is the manufacturer's packaging and the sender has consented to the item being opened for inspection by making the printed note "Darf zu Prüfzwecken durch die Post geöffnet werden" (May be opened for inspection by the postal service).

Book shipments may be sealed if they contain at least 100 copies of the same kind of item – i.e. items with the same format, the same weight class and the same sender – when they are posted and the sender has consented to the package being opened for inspection. Sealed shipments must be marked with the remark "Büchersendung / Entgelt gepr." (book shipment / postage verified) above the address.

Please note that book shipments to non-EU countries must display a completed CN22 customs declaration.
